Welcome to Soul of Yoga Institute

A sanctuary for those seeking a deeper, more spiritual experience of yoga. More than a school, we are a home for transformation—where ancient wisdom meets modern practice, and where seekers become teachers, healers, and guides.

If you feel called to elevate your career, expand your consciousness, and cultivate unshakable confidence, Soul of Yoga is here to support your journey. Our trainings, workshops, and classes are designed not just to teach, but to awaken—offering a heart-opening, soul-nourishing path to personal and professional growth.

We are deeply devoted to preserving and sharing the authentic wisdom of yoga across diverse lineages and traditions. From the science of movement and healing therapies to the mystical and sacred teachings that have been passed down for generations, our programs honor the depth and breadth of this ancient practice.

Through partnerships with some of the world's most revered teachers, we empower students to embody and share these teachings with authenticity, integrity, and heart. Together, we are cultivating a global community dedicated to making the world a kinder, more compassionate place—one practice, one breath, and one student at a time.

Our Mission

1. To share the profound experience of yoga through transformational classes, workshops, and professional trainings.
2. To empower you to share your light with the world in a way that is meaningful, authentic, and deeply impactful.
3. To ignite your unique passion, wisdom, and gifts, helping you step into your highest potential.

Your journey starts here. Welcome home.

Breathwork

HOURS 58

FACULTY Dr. Sundar Balasubramanian, Jessica Dibb, Monique Lonner, Sita Severson

DELIVERY Zoom

Breath is more than a physiological function. Within Yoga and the Siddha traditions, breath is understood as a vehicle of prāṇa, a carrier of awareness, and a bridge between body, mind, spirit, and consciousness.

The 50-Hour Foundations of Yogic Breathwork Facilitation is a ten-month online certification that begins within the ancient teachings of prāṇa and prāṇāyāma while bringing these teachings into conversation with neuroscience, medicine, psychology, trauma-sensitive practice, consciousness studies, and contemporary breathwork facilitation.

Students will learn from internationally respected teachers whose work spans Siddha medicine, Yoga, Ayurveda, neurology, psychotherapy, breathwork, meditation, consciousness research, and integrative healing.

This training is designed for yoga teachers, yoga therapists, coaches, clinicians, healthcare professionals, wellness practitioners, meditation teachers, and sincere students who want to understand the breath as both a sacred practice and a skillful method of supporting others.
The training may be completed as a stand-alone foundational certification or as the first level of a longer professional breathwork education pathway through the Soul of Yoga Institute.

An Ethically Compliant Breathwork Facilitator Certification is available upon completion of this course through the Global Professional Breathwork Alliance.

Chronic Disease & Ease

HOURS 40

FACULTY Jay Gupta, Lauri Nemetz, and Flossie Park

DELIVERY In person and Zoom

This course explores holistic understanding of common chronic conditions and the yogic tools which may be most appropriate to address them. This 6 day course includes the following workshops:

Pharmacology 101 for Yoga Therapists with Jay Gupta

Introduction to foundational concepts in pharmacology, polypharmacy, and deprescribing within the professional scope of yoga therapy. Students will explore how medications may influence movement, breathing, balance, pain, mood, energy, and other factors relevant to yoga therapy assessment and care planning.

Fascia, Hormones & Women's Health with Laurie Nemetz

This two day immersion is designed to provide a deeper, informed understanding of fascia and its role in hormonal regulation, women's health, and chronic disease, drawing on the latest research in this evolving field. As part of the larger Chronic Disease and Ease yoga therapy training, this workshop explores fascia as an intelligent, responsive system that mediates movement, sensation, stress, and healing. Through experiential practice, therapeutic sequencing, active loading, breathwork, and restorative approaches, participants will study how fascial tissues are influenced by hormonal changes, inflammation, trauma, and long-term health conditions, as well as what we do in our yoga practice to create space and ease. Emphasis is placed on women's health across life stages, including cyclical health, perimenopause and menopause, fatigue syndromes, pain patterns, and recovery.

Restorative Yoga with Flossie Park

Learn the science of the relaxation response theory and why it's so useful for people with chronic conditions. Study the anatomy of the psoas and nervous system and the neurological, physical, psychological, and energetic principles of working with Restorative Yoga.

Intro to Ayurveda

HOURS 40

FACULTY Sita Severson

DELIVERY In person and Zoom

For yoga teachers and therapists learning Ayurvedic foundations is essential to guide students with wisdom, safety, and depth. This 40-hour training will strengthen your skills by connecting the dots between philosophy, practice, and therapeutic application.

You will learn how the five elements, three gunas, seven tissues, and vital forces of agni, ojas, and tejas shape health and healing. We will explore Samkhya philosophy, shat kriyas, asana for digestive health, marmas, seasonal care, and daily rhythms. These teachings give you practical tools to understand imbalance, support your own energy, and serve students more effectively. By integrating Ayurveda, you will become a stronger and more skillful yoga professional who can meet people where they are and offer practices that truly support body, mind, and spirit.

Mental and Emotional Wellness

HOURS 40

FACULTY Shawnee Thornton Hardy, Karla Helbert, John Vosler

DELIVERY In person and Zoom

This track moves through the body, the nervous system, and the heart, guided by three teachers working at the edge of where yoga meets deep psychological care. With Shawnee Thornton Hardy, you'll explore somatic experiencing and somatic awareness as trauma-informed tools, learning how depression and anxiety live in the body and how practice can rebuild a felt sense of safety, regulation, and self-agency. With Karla Helbert, we enter one of the most tender and least spoken-of territories in yoga: grief, and specifically traumatic grief, discovering how the practice can hold space for loss that resists resolution or easy healing. And with John Volser, you'll be led into the raw, experiential work of BE-ing with what is, meeting whatever arises in the moment without fixing it, rushing it, or turning away. Together, this trio offers something rare: nervous system science, grief work, and radical presence, woven into a single container for real mental and emotional transformation.

Subtle Anatomy

HOURS 25

FACULTY Sita Severson and Flossie Park

DELIVERY In person and Zoom

This course draws on the wisdom of the pancha maya koshas (the five interwoven layers of being), together with the nadis, vayus, and chakras, offering a precise lens for understanding the integrated nature of mind, body, and spirit, and what that integration means for balance, wellbeing, health, and disease.

Subtle anatomy will be explored through both traditional and modern frameworks, each offering essential, complementary insight into how prana flows to sustain balance, vitality, and spiritual awareness, while blockages in that flow generate imbalance and can initiate disease. With this understanding, yogic practices will be applied to clear, balance, and refine the body and mind, and, ultimately, one's life.

Women's Health

HOURS 40

FACULTY Dr. Kulreet Chaudhary, Michelle C Johnson, Flossie Park, Susana Jones, Alana Keith

DELIVERY In person and Zoom

A woman's body moves through more thresholds than are typically discussed at one time. Puberty, pregnancy, motherhood, perimenopause, menopause, and empty nest. Each of these transitions rewires the brain, the nervous system, the gut, and particularly, the identity. And each one is still, too often, treated as a problem to manage rather than a transition to be honored.

This training was built for one purpose: to give practitioners real knowledge, clinical, contemplative, and lived, for meeting women at the thresholds of puberty, pregnancy, motherhood, perimenopause, menopause, and beyond.

By the end of the six days, students will leave with a working understanding of the neurology, endocrinology, and physiology of perimenopause, menopause, and the maternal brain. They will leave with the presence to sit with a woman in medical trauma, grief, brain fog, or cathartic rage. They will understand how these transitions land differently on women of color, and why so many find their way to the yoga mat and the therapy room after being failed elsewhere. And they will come away with practices, not just information, for helping women meet these passages as an initiation rather than a decline.

Mentoring

HOURS	50
FACULTY	Sita Severson, Becky Michalski, Susana Jones, Erika Lee, Alana Keith
DELIVERY	Zoom, approximately 6 hours every 5 weeks depending on Mentor choice.

Mentoring Sessions provide time to review coursework and practice skills through case studies, as well as ask questions and discuss cases, teaching situations, and specific client issues. It is a supportive community to share successes and challenges and to receive personal guidance from faculty members.

Mentoring sessions are held after each HAPY video assignment and each course module to make sure the material is being understood, applied and integrated into a full Yoga Therapy skill set.

Faculty + Guest Teachers

One of the most valuable offerings of the Soul of Yoga Institute is our celebrated faculty, which includes many highly acclaimed and world-renowned Master Teachers. Each instructor provides varied educational and experiential teachings that blend together to form a rich amalgam of learning opportunities for every student to enjoy and be enriched by.

Sita Severson, C-IAYT is the Director and Program Mentor of Soul of Yoga Institute Advanced Yoga Teacher Training and Yoga Therapy Training Programs. She graduated from the Soul of Yoga's Yoga Therapy Training program and is an experienced Ayurvedic Practitioner (AAPNA). She has led classes and created curriculum on Meditation, Yoga and Ayurveda to the professors at Johns Hopkins University, Johns Hopkins Hospital, as well as, the Department of Aging for Baltimore County.

Sita is a published author, a beloved teacher on The Shift Network and Wisdom from North (the Scandinavian version of MindValley) and is a Brown Belt in the somatic movement technique, Nia. She has worked with thousands of individuals as their Vedic counselor, supporting their health in mind, body and spirit.

Leslie Kaminoff

iis a Yoga educator inspired by the tradition of T.K.V. Desikachar. He is an internationally recognized specialist with 36 years of experience in the fields of Yoga, breath anatomy, and bodywork. He has led workshops for many of the leading Yoga associations, schools, and training programs in America. Leslie is the founder of the Yoga blog, "e-Sutra," and "The Breathing Project," a New York City Yoga studio dedicated to the teaching of individualized, breath-centered Yoga. Leslie teaches The Breathing Project's unique yearlong course in Yoga anatomy, and is the co-author with Amy Matthews of the bestselling book, "Yoga Anatomy" published by Human Kinetics.

Dr. Kulreet Chaudhary

journey began in the world of conventional medicine. As a neurologist and neuroscientist, she spent over a decade treating complex neurological disorders—multiple sclerosis, Parkinson's disease, migraines—at Scripps Memorial Hospital, where she served as the Director of Wellspring Health. But her approach was different. She wasn't satisfied with simply managing symptoms. She wanted to understand why her patients were struggling and how they could heal at the root.

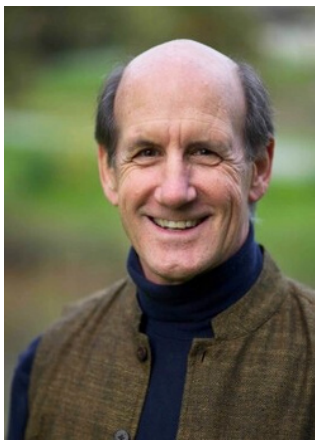

That search led her beyond the boundaries of traditional medicine and into the ancient sciences of Ayurveda and Siddha Medicine—where healing was about more than prescriptions. "The mind and body are not separate," she explains. "The Siddhas understood this thousands of years ago, and their wisdom holds the secrets to longevity, resilience, and transformation."

Faculty + Guest Teachers

Durga Leela C-IAYT, BA, CAS, PKS, Yoga Acharya

is the founder of Yoga of Recovery. She is a Certified Yoga Teacher E-RYT 500 through the Sivananda lineage and extensively trained in Meditation and Vedanta. A Clinical Ayurvedic and Panchakarma Specialist, Durga trained both in the US and India and has served as the Director of the Ayurveda Programs at the Yoga Farm in California since 2003. She is a professional member and speaker for the National Ayurvedic Medical Association (NAMA) and the International Association of Yoga Therapists (IAYT), also a member of Yoga Alliance. Durga has worked on her own path of recovery and has been a grateful member of 12 step fellowship for over 14 years.

Richard C. Miller, PhD

is a clinical psychologist, author, researcher, yogic scholar and spiritual teacher. For over 40 years, Richard Miller has devoted his life and work to integrating the nondual wisdom teachings of Yoga, Tantra, Advaita, Taoism and Buddhism with Western psychology. Among his mentors were Jean Klein, T.K.V. Desikachar and Stephen Chang.

Richard is the founding president and CEO of the Integrative Restoration Institute, co-founder of The International Association of Yoga Therapy and founding editor of the professional Journal of IAYT. He is also a founding member and past president of the Institute for Spirituality and Psychology and a senior advisor for the Baumann Foundation for the study of Awareness and its impact on well-being.

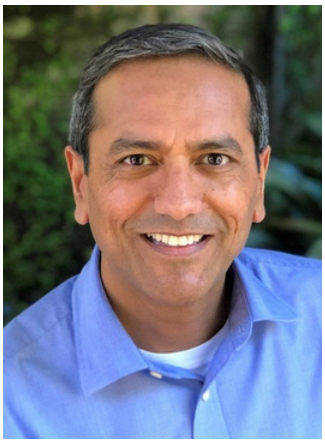

Author of Yoga Nidra: The Meditative Heart of Yoga, Richard serves as a research consultant studying the iRest Yoga Nidra protocol that he has developed (Integrative Restoration ~ iRest, a modern adaptation of the ancient nondual meditation practice of Yoga Nidra) researching its efficacy on health, healing and well-being with diverse populations including active-duty soldiers, veterans, college students, children, seniors, the homeless, the incarcerated, and people experiencing issues such as sleep disorders, PTSD, chemical dependency, chronic pain, and related disorders.

Monique Lonner, E-RYT 500, C-IAYT

is the Founder of Soul of Yoga's Accredited Yoga Therapy Program. A Yoga teacher for 20 years, she studied in India, New York and California with Master teachers and spiritual sages including, most notably, the teaching faculty of the Soul of Yoga Institute Advanced Program. Monique has developed the Advanced Teacher Training and Yoga Therapy Program for Soul of Yoga, bringing together those who are considered to be the best of the best Master yoga teachers in the world today. A devoted spiritual seeker, as well as an experienced anatomy and physiology teacher she has created a comprehensive program which balances the study of Yoga Therapy technique with the insight and wisdom of Yogic and metaphysical philosophy.

Faculty + Guest Teachers

Jay Gupta, RPh, MSc, 340B ACE, MTM Specialist, C-IAYT

is a distinguished healthcare leader, integrative pharmacist, CME/CE presenter, keynote speaker, certified yoga therapist and IAYT Executive Board Member, as well as cofounder of www.RxRelax.com and www.YogaCaps.org. His honors include receiving the prestigious Bowl of Hygeia Award from the American Pharmacists Association Foundation for longstanding commitment to public health leadership and civic engagement. Jivana coined the phrase, "Accessible Yoga," over ten years ago, and it has now become the standard appellation for a large cross section of the immense yoga world.

Karla Helber, LPC, C-IAYT, E-RYTt

is a licensed professional counselor, certified yoga therapist, and certified meditation instructor specializing in traumatic grief and bereavement. She blends counseling with holistic and spiritual modalities, including yoga therapy, mindfulness, hypnosis and trance work, guided visualization, yoga nidra, Reiki, chakra work, and Induced After Death Communication (IADC) therapy.

A bereaved mother herself, Karla brings both personal and clinical understanding to grief work. She also has three decades of experience with neurodiverse clients across the spectrum, including non-speaking and minimally speaking individuals, and is the award-winning author of Finding Your Own Way to Grieve: A Creative Activity Workbook for Kids and Teens on the Autism Spectrum.

is a scientist, author, professor, dog musher, and founder of the Alaska Family Violence Prevention Project, Dr. Linda Chamberlain has worked in the field of childhood and adult trauma for over two decades. Known for her abilities to translate science into practical strategies with diverse audiences, she is an internationally recognized keynote speaker who conveys a message of hope and empowerment. Her current focus is on a healing-centered framework with a strong emphasis on brain-mind-body practices to address how stress is stored in our bodies and our natural instinct to heal. A trainer with Capacitar, an international network for well-being and transforming trauma, she is trained in a wide range of practices that use breathwork, movement, meditation, visualization, HeartMath, and poly-vagal informed strategies to promote resilience, self-regulation and healing. Her skill-based presentations highlight simple tools that are appropriate for children, youth and adults. An important application of her work is preventing compassion fatigue and vicarious trauma among service providers exposed to the suffering of others in a broad range of settings. Dr. Chamberlain taught at the University of Alaska and earned public health degrees from Yale School of Medicine and Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health. Recognition for her work includes a Scientist Scholar with the Fulbright Arctic Initiative, a National Kellogg Leadership Fellowship, an Alaska Women of Achievement Award and the Inaugural Scattergood Foundation Scholar on Child Behavioral Health.

Shannon Ramo, C-IAYT

comes from a colorful background: A career in accounting, studying the self through yoga and meditation, a musician, an artist, a farmer, and a preschool teacher! I became a mother in 2017 and in that process I connected with a new version of myself that was never known before. I found a deep desire to return to being playful and I prioritized beginning to feel what it truly was like to be in my body - to be me!

Along the journey I was fortunate to meet a local preschool teacher who allowed me to share my yoga practices with the kids at her school. We quickly realized there was so much more I could do with the children when we zoomed out and saw all the tools I have for social-emotional development, non-violent communication, embodiment, playfulness and joy! I spent five years under the mentorship of Liberty Winn at Oasis Preschool in San Diego and have been sharing yoga with kids for 7 years now. As a certified Yoga Therapist I have completed trainings for Trauma, Anxiety, Depression, Grief and more so that I am better equipped to meet the varying needs of those in our community.

Flossie Park, E-RYT 500 YACEP

always considering herself as a student of life, Flossie has dedicated her life to empowering herself and others through yoga, meditation, workshops, retreats, Sound Therapy and numerous other modalities for over 25 years. Student testimonials

The Soul Institute has fun and educational classes beyond the typical yoga teachers school. I have attended their classes (and a lot of others around the country). I am consistently impressed with both the teaching quality and the broad spectrum of classes they offer. There is a nice community, and everyone is so happy and grateful to be there. It is clearly money and time well spent!

- Christina W. Boston MA

The teacher training program at the Soul of Yoga has been formulated by a body of incredible human beings, each of whom has dedicated their lives to serving others and providing Yoga for the world. The program is thoughtful, effective, and gives the participants a fantastic education in the history, philosophy and practices of Yoga. The course does a great job covering each of the major modern lineages along with a look into the historical texts of the Bhagavad Gita and the Vedic traditions. The training also covers training in anatomy and physiology with specializations offered in Vinyasa, Gentle, Kundalini, and Yin yoga. I couldn't recommend this program enough – I'm so glad I chose Soul of Yoga, and look forward to participating in many more training opportunities with them.

- Alex T. San Diego, CA

Student testimonials

This was the most EPIC training I could have ever imagined. Next level. I recommend everyone to this training. It transformed my entire life.

- Sophia Argabright

Teacher training at the Soul of Yoga changed my life. It was not only an experience of asana, philosophy and spirituality, but a beautiful exploration of bonding and community with my fellow course mates. I would recommend it to anyone as an exercise in growth and leadership, regardless of their desire to teach yoga.

- Siobhan Barton

My advanced YTT experience at Soul of Yoga was excellent! Before I committed, the assistant director had several email & phone calls with me, answering any any all questions as well as providing a clear picture of the program and requirements. The trainings were extremely valuable to my growth as a teacher. Their facility is beautiful and so inviting! It is apparent that the staff at SOY truly cares about each student and desires to advance the practice and teachings of yoga.

- Amanda Wood

Student testimonials

Soul of Yoga teacher training is a gift, for the self and others who teachers go on to serve. It was professional and well-rounded, with exceptional master instructors leading students through a profound experience and education.

- Jenna Jacobsen

I absolutely loved my time with Soul of Yoga. The curriculum is strong and the teachers are amazing. I loved it so much I signed up for the Yoga Therapy Program. Highly recommend!

- Alli Houseworth

I am very much enjoying being a student at The Soul of Yoga Institute as I work towards my degree in Yoga Therapy. I recently completed my 300 Hour Advanced Training as part of my certification. The Yoga Therapy program is comprehensive with a strong science foundation. They offer a variety of courses that dive deep into the relationship between the mind-body-soul, integrating both science and spirituality into their courses and coursework. Being a student in this program has enhanced my own daily practices and teaching skills. The teachers and facilitators inspire me in my own personal growth and in my growth as a Yoga Professional. I look forward to continuing my education with The Soul of Yoga Institute. I feel very 'at home' in this particular program, and I am very grateful to be a part of it.
